

12/04/2011

Although you may have communicated to someone a truth, if it was done in a style or manner that was not virtuous you should be willing to acknowledge your error.